File 115 Dora Stromberger Diary

Small notepad/diary kept by Dora Stromberger who worked at Reed's Department Store in downtown Mansfield, Ohio. It contains entries from April 14, 1923 through February 1927. It has 3-5 entries per week for events including: births, deaths, marriages, and other local events. She also has kept track of her payroll or checking account at the back as well as family birthdays.

File 116: Notebook

This spiral notebook was used by Mary Jane Henney when she taught genealogy to other residents at the nursing home during her later years. It contains various lists of names from different research projects she conducted as well as guidelines for beginning genealogists

File 117: Scrapbook #1

Originally owned by a girl named Ida from Delaware County, Ohio. Clippings of poetry, art, literary works, wood cut images, calling cards, and other paper ephemera pasted onto the pages of an original bound volume called Ohio School Laws 1880. Pages 1-49 have items pasted on the pages. Pages 50-194 of the original book are untouched.

Clippings of poetry, art, literary works, wood cut images, and other vintage paper ephemera pasted onto the pages of an original bound volume called Report of the Superintendent of the U.S. Coast Survey for 1856. Originally compiled by a woman from Mount Vernon. Obtained by Mary Jane Henney in 1949. Contains no genealogical or local history information. Pages 1-164 of the original book have items affixed. Pages 165-356 of original book untouched. Also included is the Saturday, October 8, 1853 Notes and Queries: A Medium of Inter-Communication for Literary men, Artists, Antiquaries, Genealogists, Etc. Vol. 8. No. 206. Pg. 333-356.

Scope and Content: This collection contains newspaper clippings spanning 1850-2001 collected and assembled by Mary Jane (Armstrong) Henney into different scrapbooks and albums. This collection houses 1000s of obituaries as well as wedding and birth announcements, divorces, murders, fires, and other scandals. Significant amounts of Mansfield history are covered including political figures, courthouses, schools, churches, parks, railroads & automobiles, business & industry, and events. A portion of the collection is focused on Ashland County and the City of Ashland as well as on the Clear Fork Valley region including the communities of Bellville and Butler. Mary Jane was meticulous at her organization and nearly every single clipping is dated with a citation from where she got it. There is some overlap and likely some duplicates between the parts of this collection. However the length and depth of this finding should no doubt help those interested in the history and people of Richland County find what they need.

Access: No restrictions

Provenance: This collection was donated to OGS in several installments beginning in 1992 by Mary Jane (Armstrong) Henney (17 Sept 1916-10 Oct 2008). Mary Jane was the daughter of Elzie Edwin & Blanche (Pifer) Armstrong. She graduated from Ashland High School, Ashland College, and attended Wooster College and Case Western Reserve University. Mary Jane taught elementary school in the Ashland City Schools and Madison Local Schools as well as played viola with the Ashland Symphony and other symphonies in Ohio. After teaching and performing, she worked as a volunteer chairman for the American Red Cross and was active within the Ohio Genealogical Society where she served as chairman of volunteers and was a member of the board of trustees for many years. Even after moving to Woodlawn Health Care & Rehabilitation Center, Mary Jane had a computer in her room and continued helping others with genealogy and conducting classes at the care center. Mary Jane was an avid local historian and compiled scrapbooks of newspaper clippings from the Mansfield, Ashland, and Bellville papers--both contemporary and vintage. She was the author of Once Upon Another Time, a series column which ran in the Mansfield News Journal. She worked tirelessly to complete decades of newspaper article indexes and compiled several books on Richland County History. Boxes 1-6 were donated to OGS by Mary Jane Henney at different times between 1992 and 2008. Boxes 7-10 were donated by her family in 2012 after her death.
